Given at his Majeſty's Caſtle of Dublin, the Sixteenth Day of December, 1738.

By their Excellencies Command,

Tho. Tickell.

GOD ſave the KING.

Whitehall, December 26.

On Chriſtmas Day, the King, the Duke, the three Princeſſes Amelia, Caroline, and Mary, with the Lord Archbiſhop of Canterbury, and ſeveral Perſons of Quality and Diſtinction, received the Holy Sacrament in the Royal Chapel at St. James's; the Communion Office being performed by the Right Reverend the Lord Biſhop of London, Dean of the Chapel.

Warſaw, Dec. 17, N. S. The King having recovered from his late Indiſpoſition, appeared in publick the 13th, and received the Compliments of Congratulation from the firſt Perſons of Diſtinction. After which his Poliſh Majeſty, together with the Queen and their Royal Highneſſes the Princeſſes, aſſiſted at divine Service in the Cathedral Church. Upon his Majeſty's Return from thence, the Court and Crown Treaſurer M. Sedlniecki, and the Staroſt M. Migezinski took the uſual Oath of Senator, the firſt in Quality of Palatin, and the latter in that of Caſtellan of Podlachia. After this the Palatin of Mazovia, Poniatowski, who was lately obliged by a Fit of the Gout to defer his Journey, took his Leave of the King in order to go to his Eſtate for ſix Weeks to ſettle his private Affairs. On the 15th the Son of the late Grand Maſter of Lithuania, Count Sapieha, had the Honour to deliver to the King the Blue Ribbon which his Father wore, and accompanied it with a ſuitable Compliment; after which he had the Honour to kiſs his Majeſty's Hand. Count Wratiſlaw, the Emperour's Ambaſſadour, has preſented a Memorial, deſiring the Continuance of the Saxon Auxiliary Troops againſt the Turks, on the ſame Conditions they have hitherto been granted. No fixed Reſolution has as yet been taken upon it, but it is ſuppoſed that a favourable one will ſoon be reſolved on.
